

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A device included with a golf club that plays a sound file, comprising the steps of:
 - 5 Sensing the initial movement of a golf swing;
 - 5 Synchronizing the playing of a sound file to said movement;
 - 5 Said sound file played is selected from a plurality of digitally stored files.
- 10 2. A device according to claim 1 wherein the sound file comprises of an arrangement of musical notes in expressive succession representing the rhythm and timing of a known golf swing.
- 15 3. A device according to claim 2 wherein the sound produced is audibly continuous, without pause for the entirety of the sound file.
- 20 4. A device according to claim 2 wherein the recorded sound file includes the sound of the striking of a golf ball with a golf club.
- 25 5. A device according to claim 1 wherein the located origin of sound is at the head of the golf shaft, distal to the grip end.